TWO HOTLY-FOUGHT CONTESTS PROMISED

Ray Ryan's Colts and Aloys Will Hook Up in Final Games of Season This Afternoon.

RECORD CROWD IS EXPECTED Admirers of Both Teams to Do Some Fancy and Noisy Rooting—Pierce and Ramey Will Pitch the Opener. Receipts Go to Players.

The baseball feature of today is two games at Broad Street Park for the price of one, the first game beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

The battling forces will be Ray Ryan's Colts, which landed second place in the Virginia League pennant race, and the Aloys, champion amateurs of Richmond and winners of the Washington-Richmond amateur championship.

It is certain that with Cy Pierce on the firing line for the Aloys and Ramey doing the twirling for the Colts in the opener that a game equal in interest to that played last Wednesday on Wednesday afternoon will be witnessed. In the closing game Sanderson will twirl for the Aloys and Mickey O'Brien for the Colts.

The Colts have had splendid practice during the week and Captain Bigbie has been putting the members of the Aloys team through hard practice, so that they ought to be in fit condition to give an exhibition above par.

The receipts of these post-season games go into the pockets of the players, and the attendance to-day will be a sort of test trial of local fame to the boys who battled to land Richmond in first place in the Virginia League and to capture the pennant.

Because of the large following of admirers that the Aloys have and the friends of the State League, it is certain that to-day's crowd will be a bumper, and the probabilities are that the Labor Day attendance and the fourth of July crowd will be set in the background.

There will be noises of all kinds and some fancy rooting on the part of the locomotive builders' enthusiasts, while the Colts' admirers will likely spring a sensation.

To-day's games will be the finale for the Colts, the aggregation breaking up to-morrow for the winter lay-off.

MYERS OUTPITCHED MARKLE: TWINS WIN

Schneider the Star in Fourth Game of Inter-city Handicaps at Norfolk, Va.

NORFOLK, Va., September 18.—Betty pitching in the fourth game of the Twins than Clifford Markle could furnish the Norfolk Tars game, Winston-Salem, 4 to 1.

Winston-Salem's star was Gus Schneider, last year a member of the Norfolk club, who pitched over the Norfolk lead and halted a pair of Norfolk hurlers, performance which the Tars had in mind when they lined up.

With one out in the bottom of the first inning, Schneider struck out Citrano at second for a force on the man going from first to second, and then took Citrano for a second out.

Markle, who topped the Virginia League pitchers yesterday, lost his second game of the series. The afternoon game were pitched on hard hitting, while the Tars solo counter resulted from two wild throws.

With one out in the bottom of the first inning, Schneider struck out Citrano at second and scored when Hickman cut a double to left, and Citrano had a run.

Gates walked and two runs scored when Citrano doubled to left center and Citrano will be played here to-morrow. The score:

CASH PRIZES FOR TEAMS WELL UP IN THE RACE

Question Is Asked Why Magnates Do Not Offer Purses to Those Finishing Second, Third and Fourth.

WOULD CREATE INTEREST

IT SEEMS UNJUST TO PLAYERS OF THREE NINES, WHO MAKE GAME FIGHT NOT TO BE REWARDED FOR THEIR EFFORTS.

NEW YORK, September 18.—Why don't the big league magnates get to work and offer cash rewards for members of the clubs that finish second, third and fourth each season?

The team that finishes first mingles in the world's series, and each of the players get a nice divvy. But there's no financial reward for the clubs that finish second, third and fourth, even if they are only half a game behind the last day of the season, and therefore increased attendance.

The American League now the Athletics are so far ahead that nothing but a miracle will enable another team to beat them out. The 1914 season is concerned, in over the long run, as far as the American League is concerned, is over. There is little glory for teams finishing second, third or fourth, and the teams are not exerting themselves to land those positions.

This means that for weeks before the American League baseball has been dead. Seven of the teams have nothing to fight for, and the crowds are not lured to any extent by the teams that can achieve but little by victory and lose nothing by defeat.

How different the situation would be if there were prizes for the teams to contest for. There would be a merry little battle among the eleven teams to land in one of the positions. Their interest in the fight would be keen, and they would put up better ball games, and would fight harder. There would be a keen interest in the race among the fans in the towns where clubs had a chance for one of the prize positions.

If $10,000 were offered for second place, $7,500 for third place and $5,000 for fourth place, it would mean that the magnates would have to fork out about $2,500 each. They would get this back tenfold each season through extra attendance at the big end of the season.
